THE PRESS ON THE LUSK LAWS

"The danger is that the laws will persist just because they are so ridiculous that they appear to most citizens to be mere flourishes. The Lusk laws certainly were never intended for general and impartial enforcement. But let us not deceive ourselves. Senator Lusk is on record as saying that while men and women as citizens may advocate peaceful changes in government, "they have not the right to do it while they subsist on public funds"—not even by peaceful means. The whole underlying idea is that teachers are to be intellectual and moral tools of the status quo in government; they are to be conservatives even if they have to become intellectual slaves, cowards and hypocrites. This is the real issue and not the absurdities hatched by Senator Lusk and the dark powers back of him."

Memorandum of the Provisions
Of and Objections To The
So-Called Lusk School Laws

THE SO-CALLED LUSK LAWS which are deemed objectionable and whose repeal, as advocated by Governor Smith, is now sought, are Chapters 666 and 667 of the Laws of 1921. They grant to administrative officials objectionable power of regulation and control over instruction in private schools and over the personal opinions and beliefs of public school teachers. The main provisions of and objections to the bills are as follows:

THE TEACHERS LAW

THIS ACT adds a new section to the Education Law providing that every teacher in the public schools shall obtain a certificate of qualification from the Commissioner of Education certifying that he or she is of good moral character and is loyal and obedient to the government of this state and of the United States. No certificate shall be issued except after examination and unless it appears that the applicant has not, while a citizen, advocated a form of government other than the government of the United States or of this state and has not advocated governmental change by force, violence or unlawful means. No teacher shall be employed without such certificate, which may be revoked by the Commissioner without hearing.

This act is deemed objectionable upon the following grounds:

1. The act is so broad that it disqualifies a teacher who may advocate entirely proper and harmless political doctrines which to be made effective may happen to require a modification of the existing forms of government. It means that every teacher must accept existing forms as perfect and above criticism. It follows that if he advocates any change in the existing forms he ipso facto becomes disloyal.

2. The act unjustly discriminates against teachers as a class, in that it restricts their freedom of political opinion and makes their qualifications for their positions depend not only upon their conduct in their work but also upon the political opinions which they may express outside the classroom. That this was intended to authorize the supervision of opinion expressed outside the classroom was admitted by Senator Lusk at the committee hearing when the act was pending in the Legislature.
